

From April, many small businesses in England will be free to choose a water retailer to provide their billing, metering and customer service needs.

The water you use and the wastewater you return will still be supplied and treated by your regional water company.

For free, impartial advice you can trust and to check your eligibility go to open-water.org.uk